

Drafting Courses

The curriculum in Interior Design and Drafting in the Family and Consumer Science department at Monterey Peninsula College enables the student to earn a certificate of training in Computer-aided Drafting and Design, a certificate of achievement, work toward an AA degree, or transfer to a 4-year institution. Classes also offer education of general interest to persons in the community who wish to make their own present or future homes more attractive and functional.

The program is planned so that, upon completion, the student may transfer to pursue a Bachelor's degree, become self-employed, or be employed in an entry level position by the following:

- Interior Design Studios
- Facilities Design
- Building Contractors and Architects
- Furniture Design
- Lighting, Kitchen and Bath Planners
- Freelance Drafting

Certificate of Training

The Computer Aided Drafting and Design certificate is a segment of the Interior Design program designed for students who want to pursue technical aspects of design. Career paths include drafting for commercial design, facilities design, furniture design, and freelance drafting and design work.

Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of the Computer Aided Drafting and Design certificate, students will be able to:

- Prepare drawings and documents relative to the design of spaces in order to enhance and protect the health, safety, and welfare of the users of the space.

Most courses in the program will transfer allowing the student to pursue an advanced degree.

Not all courses are offered every semester. Students are encouraged to consult with counselors and instructors about their educational goals and career aspirations so that appropriate classes may be recommended. Course descriptions are available at www.mpc.edu and in the MPC Catalog.
